

Resources

At your local library or schools, look for books about different cultures, including nonfiction and books of stories from other lands.

Visit local cultural and historical museums and centers. Invite guests from other cultures to visit your den and talk with the boys about their heritage.

Boy's Life magazine can also be an excellent source of information and stories about other cultures.

A Positive Attitude About Culture

Positive, flexible attitudes toward other people are rooted in strong, positive images of ourselves. Self-assured children are not threatened by differences. They remain open to the new experiences that differences make possible. Self-confident children learn to be skeptical of negative cultural myths about other people. They make up their own minds about people as individuals rather than as members of a stereotypical category.

Encourage and help your child find out about his family history. You will have the opportunity to be part of his adventure as he explores his roots and his heritage. You can help him find family pictures, record family stories told by relatives, and visit libraries, county archives, newspaper files, or cemeteries where family history information might be found.

Help him organize his family story. Help him when he has questions about the customs or traditions of other cultures he encounters in his den or classroom. Help him prepare his family story for exhibit at the pack heritages celebration.

Enjoy the time you spend together. Seeing your family heritage through your child's eyes can be among the most satisfying things you'll do.

The BSA Family Program

Earning the BSA Family Award is an excellent way to learn more about your family's heritage. Requirements can be found in the BSA Family Book (No. 33012). Your family can earn a Family Program certificate; Cub Scouts can earn a patch; and family members can earn the BSA Family pin.
